The hardest part of the assignment would have to be drawing the UML diagram. When reading it at first it seemed easy considering I have worked with UML diagrams. The problem I encountered was wrapping my head around the intended design and making a sufficient diagram. It was great practice.